Big SPIKE and Little TYKE

Barney Bear had just settled himself in the hammock for an afternoon nap when Fuzzy and Wuzzy bounded into the yard. "Uncle Barney," they wheedled, "can we have some money for ice-cream sodas?"

Barney, yawning a bear-sized yawn, merely looked bored. "I might consider it," he said, "if you'd do some work around here! Clean up the garage or something and let me sleep." With that, Barney turned away and ignored his nephews completely.

"Gee whiz," muttered Fuzzy, "Unc is grumpy today! But we'd better do what he says if we want that ice cream!" And the two small bears started off toward the garage in back of the house.

The garage really did need cleaning up. "It'll take us hours to clear all this junk out of here!" Wuzzy grumbled. "And gosh! — I want that ice-cream soda NOW!"

Just then, Fuzzy spied a large can of white paint in the corner. "Cheer up, Wuzzy!" he said. "This white paint gives me an idea!" And he whispered something in Wuzzy's ear.

A moment later, carrying the paint and two brushes, Fuzzy and Wuzzy tiptoed back to Barney's hammock. "He's really sound asleep!" giggled Fuzzy. "Just listen to him snore!"

"Shh!" cautioned Wuzzy. "We'll have to work fast!" And dipping their brushes into the paint, they quickly gave Barney's brown fur a dazzling coat of white.

"Now for the sign!" whispered Fuzzy. Tiptoeing through the gate, he propped a placard against the tall fence that surrounded the yard. "See the Sleeping Polar Bear," it read. "Admission, One Cent."

"Bet all the kids in town'll come to our homemade zoo!" grinned Wuzzy. "Gee, Fuzz, you're the smartest bear I know!"

A short while later, Fuzzy and Wuzzy strolled into the ice-cream parlor down the street, their mouths watering greedily as they climbed up to the counter.

"I'll have a strawberry soda," said Fuzzy, "with three extra scoops of ice cream!"

"And I'll have a chocolate soda," said Wuzzy, "with three extra scoops of ice cream — and whipped cream on top!"

Just as the delicious sodas were placed before the two boys, a huge paw reached out from behind each little bear. "HOLD IT!" roared a familiar voice. "I'll just eat these sodas myself!" Fuzzy and Wuzzy whirled around to see Barney glowering behind them.

"Why — uh, hello, Uncle Barney!" Fuzzy squeaked. "Fancy seeing YOU here!"

"G-gee, Uncle Barney," quavered Wuzzy, "we t-thought you were taking a nap!"

"I've been taking a BATH, that's what!" snapped Barney. "And since you two are so handy with the paintbrush, you can march right home and start painting the fence!"

Hours later, Fuzzy and Wuzzy mopped their brows wearily. "Guess my idea wasn't so smart!" said Fuzzy, giving the freshly painted fence a final dab. "Besides, that was a mean trick to play on Uncle Barney!"

Just then, Barney walked into the yard, carrying a huge carton. "O.K., you two!" he said. "You've finally earned your ice cream! Here's a whole gallon of it — so you can invite all the kids!"

As Fuzzy and Wuzzy whooped with joy, Barney muttered, "That polar bear paint job was really my own fault — for giving the little fellows such a cold shoulder!"

JUICY FRUIT GUM PRESENTS HAVE FUN SAFELY

DON'T GET HURT

NEVER dive until you've checked with a long pole for depth, hidden rocks or logs.
NEVER swim when tired, overheated or chilled.

NEVER swim where there's a fast current or undertow.

NEVER duck or rough-house anyone in the water.

NEVER swim after eating a big meal.

BE SMART-PLAY SAFE

ALWAYS stay reasonably close to the shore.
ALWAYS swim where there's a lifeguard, if possible.

ALWAYS swim with a "buddy."

Juicy Fruit Gum has lots of delicious flavor—and it won't spoil your appetite.

Ask your Mom to bring some home.
